Dear Marcy,

2010 has been an exciting year. We introduced the Inspired Learning Model to educational and corporate leaders in India. We're forging new partnerships with other non-profits. We are now on Facebook and we're in the running for the Best Brilliant Idea for Humanity.

We've also decided it was time to make some changes to our newsletter format. Let us know what you think via marcyjohnsrude@inspiredlearning.org

The Inspired Learning Model in India

On September 11, 2010, Peter J. Reding facilitated a one-day workshop in Delhi, India. Thirty-two educators from various schools attended. The purpose of the workshop was to introduce the Inspired Learning Model including research, elements and principles of the Model and experience. Peter has been doing follow-up webinars for those who attended the workshop as well as some of their colleagues. More good news is that the Inspired Learning Model Handbook is going to be translated into Hindi.

A Workshop in Palm Springs

May 2010, Peter facilitated a workshop entitled Accelerating Learning and Empowerment using the Inspired Learning Model at the BOOST conference in Palm Springs, CA.

We're on Facebook

Yes!!!! We're now on Facebook and would like your help taking the Inspired Learning Model to as many people as we can; particularly parents, teachers, adult learners, trainers and leaders in education and the corporate world. Click Facebook Link Here:

Free Nov. 2010 Training & Access to WebEx Webinar

We are offering Inspired Learning facilitators free training on WebEx webinar technology. We will be offering free access to our 100 seat webinar room to those who are willing to share how you use the Inspired Learning Model as a parent, K-12 teacher, or adult learning facilitator. The Inspired Learning Model - The Best Brilliant Idea for Humanity

The Inspired Learning Model is in the running for the Best Brilliant Idea for Humanity. This is a 7-month process and we just found out that we have enough votes to continue to round two; however, we still need your help. The longer we remain in the contest, the more opportunity we have to expose the Inspired Learning Model to the world. Have you voted yet? If not, please go to http://www.bestideaforhumanity.com/voter_login.cfm?eid=153 and follow the directions to vote for us because, as you already know, the Inspired Learning Model is the Best Brilliant Idea for Humanity.

The Inspired Learning Model - Positively the most effective learning environment in the world - Guaranteed.

Love & Respect,
Peter J. Reding
